AMENDMENTS TO THE SPECIFICATION

Please replace paragraph [0011] at the top of page 3 with the following amended paragraph:

[0011] It is simple and understood in the art to create a conventional spreadsheet program written in a browser scripting language, of which JavaScript is a well-known example, which can be interpreted by many standard browsers, Netscape™ and Microsoft Internet Explorer™ being typical. Such scripting languages are used to build upon and extend the capabilities of Hyper-Text Markup Language (HTML).
